IOM's Displacement Tracking Matrix (DTM), in collaboration with Mozambique's National Institute for Disaster Management (INGD) and local authorities in Erati, Nampula, conducted a household-level verification exercise to assess the remaining population displaced by attacks or fear of attacks in Chiure districts, Cabo Delgado. At its peak, Erati hosted over 45,000 internally displaced persons (IDPs) from neighboring Chiure District. As of March 15, joint verification efforts confirmed the presence of 1,503 IDPs (corresponding to 468 households) still in Namapa and Alua Posto, marking a 70% decrease from the peak between February 19-24. Nacuxa School no longer hosts any families. Children make up 53% of those remaining displaced within the district.

A week prior to verification, IOM, INGD, and Erati district authorities conducted a Movement Intention Survey to understand the short-term mobility plans, profiles, and community relationships of IDPs in Erati. According to the verified reported decrease, 56% of individuals assessed at the peak of displacement had intentions to relocate or return to their place of origin within a month. Among those intending to stay, more than half confirmed connections and good relationships with their hosting communities. The most urgent needs reported include food, shelter, and non-food items.
